Banish bad sound

Background noise is distracting

Calls and online meetings sound less than ideal when you rely on the in-built sound on your laptop, as people on the other end of your call can hear all the noise around you. After all, no one wants to hear your co-workers chatting or your dog barking when they're trying to focus on the discussion at hand.

Getting complaints about your sound?

In fact, people using their laptop's microphone are almost 10x more likely to face complaints about their background noise than those using a professional noise-cancelling headset like our Jabra Evolve2 range. So do your colleagues on the other end of the line a favor and upgrade to more professional sound.

It's time to choose professional sound

Jabra has the technology to make these issues a thing of the past. Our headsets can block out background noise to pick up just the sound of your voice, so you'll always sound crisp and clear, for more professional meetings every time.

Work better with Jabra

Professional solutions

Jabra is a world leader in audio, video, and collaboration solutions, building on 150 years history of engineering expertise within the GN group.

At Jabra, we have a track record of developing innovative communications to transform how you work in the office, at home, and everywhere in-between.

With Jabra noise-cancelling headsets and speakerphones, you can rest assured that you'll always hear and be heard clearly and professionally on every call.

Going above and beyond

Our world-class GN Research Lab engineers outstanding solutions that combine the latest functionality with the highest standards of quality.

We extensively test our products for reliability, durability, and comfort to ensure they withstand the rigors of intensive, everyday use.

And while our technology may be clever, we make it easy and intuitive to use, with plug-and-play solutions that enable you to enjoy more productive communications from the word go.

Buy in confidence

Jabra solutions are designed to work easily with a wide range of communications technology. We take compatibility a step further, submitting our products to rigorous testing with leading online meeting platforms including Microsoft Teams, Zoom, and Google Meet to achieve certification. Certified products are proven to work seamlessly with a platform, delivering easy connectivity and superior performance right out of the box.

The certification badges shown in this guide will help you choose the right products for your particular setup.

FACTORS TO CONSIDER

Do you work in an open-plan space or have your own office?

Do you need the freedom to move during calls?

How noisy is your work environment?

Do you need to take calls or stay focussed in busy environments?

What style works best for you?

Do you want something discreet to work on-the-go?

Do you use Microsoft Teams, Zoom, Google Meet or other meeting platforms?

Are you an office worker or a customer service or contact center agent?

FEATURES TO LOOK FOR

Headset or speakerphone? Headsets are ideal for shared work spaces; if you have your own office, you can choose between a headset or speakerphone.

Our Bluetooth® wireless headsets offer a range of up to 30m/100ft from your connected device - ideal if you want to grab a coffee while you talk. You can also connect them to a laptop and mobile phone at the same time.

Noise cancelling microphones reduce background noise like office chatter being picked up by your microphone, making you sound crisp and clear

Active Noise Cancellation (ANC) helps silence the noise around you, making it easier for you to concentrate

Stereo headsets (with two earcups) help minimize noise while mono headsets (with one earcup) suit a quieter space

Headsets with foldaway boom arms or earbud styles look discreet when you're out and about

MS or UC? Our devices come in Microsoft Teams (MS) and Unified Communications (UC) versions. Choose an MS version if you work mainly with Teams and choose a UC version if you mainly use another platform.

We recommend our Evolve2 headsets for office and home workers and Engage headsets for contact center and customer service workers
